SPARKY ESPERANZA!

Starting around three years ago when I was perusing the internet for new plants to offer our Rainbow Gardens customers, I came across a new cultivar called "Sparky". It's named after the Arizona State University Mascot.

This esperanza has spectacular flowers featuring a dark orange throat and bright yellow/orange trumpet shape petals. It grows as a compact 4-5' tall x wide bush.

It took me three years to acquire these plants through a partnership with our Arizona growers. I've since planted one at home and another one on the Rainbow Gardens property on Thousand Oaks. It grew quickly and immediately started blooming! It was everything I had hoped for and I quickly fell in love with it.

I am excited to share this new cultivar with our loyal customers!

Our THOUSAND OAKS location has a limited supply of about 30 "Sparkys" (6/15/23)/. These will be the first and the last of this stock for this year if you are interested, now is the time to hurry in and get one. Plant in the ground in full sun!
